

Dear Hiring Manager,

I understand that my resume may appear unconventional, as I started working even before my first year of college began. Alongside my studies, I have continuously taken on side jobs and opportunities to expand my knowledge and gain real-world experience beyond what is taught in school.

I am someone who is eager to learn, grow, and challenge myself in different environments. I believe that joining your company would allow me to further develop my skills, gain valuable experience, and contribute positively to your team. I am highly motivated and always willing to adapt new things.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to contribute, grow and learn with your company.

Sincerely,

Bamenta, Roeë Michaela O.
